

CalvaryOnTheWeb.com Privacy Policy

Calvary Baptist Church maintains this website as a service to its members and visitors. The Privacy Policy set forth below governs your use of this website, and by using the website you agree to be bound by them. Therefore, please read the Privacy Policy carefully before you use this website. If you do not agree with our Privacy Policy, please do not use this website.

Log Files

Like most websites, this website logs your IP address, browser type, hits on particular pages and other general traffic information. This information is not linked to personally identifiable information and you remain anonymous.

Cookies

A "cookie" is a file that is sent from a web server to your web browser and placed on your computer. When you initially visit the website, we create a cookie for your computer and then use it to track your clicks as you go through the site. We also use cookies if users specify that they want the site to "store" their login information. There is no personal information stored within the cookie itself and we cannot use cookies to retrieve personal information about you or from your computer. While your activity may be tracked while you are at our website, we do not use cookies to track your activity before or after you leave the site. We use cookies to track downloads and allow access to password protected areas of the site.

Web Bugs

Calvary Baptist Church does not make use of "Web bugs" (programs installed on your personal computer by a website to track personal web usage) in any way, shape, or form.

The Information We Collect

Calvary Baptist Church will only collect personal information from the web site during the course of dealing with you, for example when you register for conferences or events, or complete other forms.

Users can generally visit the Church website without revealing who they are or other personal information unless they log on or register with us. The Church will not collect any personal information about visitors to the website except when they knowingly provide it.

How We Use Your Information

The Church will use the personal information we collect for the purpose disclosed at the time of collection, or otherwise as set out in this Privacy Policy. We will not use your personal information for any other purpose without first seeking your consent, unless authorized or required by law.

Access To Your Information

You can request access to the personal information that the Church holds about you by contacting the Church as set out below. We will provide you with access to your personal information unless we are legally authorized to refuse your request

Links to Third-Party Sites

Calvary Baptist Church provides a number of links to third-party sites and assumes no responsibility for the information practices of websites a user is able to access through ours. The Church encourages all web visitors to review the privacy policies and statements of all externally-linked websites. There is no third-party advertising on the Church's website.
